

Landscape Designer Position

Ann P. Stokes Landscape Architects

Norfolk, VA

Ann P. Stokes Landscape Architects, located in downtown Norfolk, Virginia, seeks a highly motivated and collaborative landscape designer for an immediate position. We are looking for a talented designer who is technically proficient (construction detailing, grading & drainage), possesses a working knowledge of materials and plants, is graphically skilled, and able to work and communicate well with clients, contractors, and consultants. We especially value your ability to think on your feet, whether in the field or at a computer.

Requirements include:

- A degree in Landscape Architecture from an accredited program;
- Proficiency in current versions of AutoCAD, Adobe Creative Cloud including Photoshop & InDesign, Sketch-Up, and MS Office 365+;
- Demonstrate excellent writing, graphic, rendering and oral presentation skills;
- A minimum of 1-2 years of professional experience in landscape architecture preferred but not required;

Responsibilities of the position include:

- Collaborate effectively and positively on project teams within and outside the office;
- Participate in all project phases including conceptual design, presentation preparation, design development, construction documentation and construction administration on a variety of project types;
- Meet project deadlines in a fast-paced studio environment.

The Firm:

Ann P. Stokes Landscape Architects is a dynamic small firm with a range of projects that includes campus site design and master planning, public gardens, residential, commercial and healthcare projects. We believe good design arises from the dialogue between the inherent qualities of a place and the needs and desires of the client. The direct, intense and mutual collaboration between the client, architect, contractor and artisan strengthens design and makes possible the transformation of ideas into built reality. We seek a candidate with an understanding and appreciation of the collaborative design process who thrives in a creative studio environment.

We offer a competitive benefits package, as well as opportunities for professional growth and valuable office and field experience. Salary commensurate with work experience.
