The cost of lighting in controlled environment agriculture is high. For profitable production, it is critical that the provided light is used efficiently. This seminar will cover which factors determine light use efficiency in CEA and how this can be manipulated using the light spectrum and intensity.